The BBB Foundation empowers the public to make informed, trusted decisions and to advance integrity in the marketplace. The Foundation is the educational arm of Better Business Bureau Serving the Northwest, which facilitates trusted interactions between businesses and consumers.

We take action on these educational goals by targeting specific segments of the population and tailoring our message accordingly to young consumers, seniors, military members, and outreach in community-based events.

The BBB Foundation’s Charity Review Program takes the guess work out of giving by asking the questions most important to donors. Our Standards for Charity Accountability set guidelines for ethical and accountable practices in critical areas of operation: governance, measuring effectiveness, financial management, and fundraising. Our free program gives charities an opportunity to strengthen their operations and provides donors assurance of their trustworthiness through accreditation. Research your favorite charities on bbb.org and give.org – in 2016, we provided access to over 46,800 Charity Reviews on regional charities in the Pacific Northwest.

To help the leaders of tomorrow, the BBB Foundation offers the $10,000 Students of Integrity Scholarship, also known as #BBB10K, to help ethical students in Washington, Idaho, Oregon, Alaska, Montana and Western Wyoming continue on to the university, community college, or trade school of their choice. Our program asks students to create a 90-second YouTube video illustrating why BBB helps all consumers make better choices for online purchases or donations. Check out our 2015-2016 winning video created by Jarod Jones of Century High School in Hillsboro, Oregon.
